RESEARCH PROFILE

Architect and urban researcher from Lahore. M.Arch research at the University of Engineering and Technology, Lahore, on how the COVID-19 pandemic changed the use of parks, markets and mosques in four Lahore neighbourhoods: a mixed-methods study combining a bilingual survey, in-depth interviews, observation and mapping, which found that the pandemic exposed the long-standing exclusion of women from public space, and which ends in recommendations for the city's development authority. Gold medallist in the Bachelor of Architecture (CGPA 3.67), visiting lecturer in architectural design for two and a half years, and a public-sector architect with the Government of Punjab since 2022. Seeks funded postgraduate study in urban design and the planning of inclusive public space.
